

INFORMATION DOMINANCE

Enabling real-time decision making

Today's war-fighter needs real-time situational awareness. Our network control software and wideband radios bring the power of the network to you, significantly reducing your decision cycle. On the battlefield, many sensors stream video to operation centers at various places. By networking these data together, an individual has access to the sum total of the information available to use in his decision-making processes. No matter where you are, you can pull information from any sensor. When it comes to facilitating fast, comprehensive data delivery, count on L-3 to give you real information dominance.

